

Bradley A. Post

Bradley A. Post is the managing partner in the Modesto Office of the Law Firm of Borton, Petrini, LLP. Brad received his undergraduate degree from the University of Pacific in 1981. He attended McGeorge School of Law, obtaining his J.D. in 1986, and was admitted to the Bar the same year.

Brad has been involved in insurance defense litigation for over 20 years. He has handled defense matters on behalf of individuals, corporations and companies throughout his legal career.

In his practice, Brad has defended various public entities, including cities, school districts, fire districts, water districts, etc., as to cases involving civil rights violations, such as police brutality, wrongful arrest, unlawful search and seizure, assault and battery, negligent supervision, negligent hiring, and a motor vehicle (auto, busses, etc.) negligence.

Brad has provided representation for more than 50 product liability cases. Just a few of the products involved include punch presses, cheese moulders, cannery sorters, exercise equipment, ladders, chairs, scaffolds, electrical signs, neon signs, overhead sprinkler systems, etc.

In regard to property-related cases, Brad's practice includes defending clients in regard to electrical fires, negligent security, water damage and insurance fraud.

Brad has experience in a broad range of cases including accident and health insurance issues, medical malpractice, legal malpractice, realtor/broker insurance errors and omissions and bad faith litigation.

Brad has also been involved in several labor law cases including issues related to same-sex sexual harassment, religious discrimination, wrongful termination, racial and age discrimination and retaliation.

Brad is also familiar with the appellate process having handled successful appeals relating to the use of trial expert testimony, attorney conflicts and FIFRA Regulations.

Brad stays on the cutting-edge of his profession through memberships in several legal and professional organizations. Among these are the State Bar of California, the Stanislaus County Bar Association, for which he is currently President and has been on the Board of Directors for seven years, and the American Bar Association.

Brad has been admitted to practice before all of the California District Courts and is a member of Mid Valley Claims Association, Modesto Claims Association and the Association of Defense Counsel, Northern California.

Brad does his part to serve and promote his community. He is actively involved in the Modesto Chamber of Commerce and he is a board member and prior president of the Stanislaus County Society for Handicapped Children and Adults.

Brad is married to Deena Post and they have two daughters, Kathleen Grace and Caroline Christine.
